

The College has an Agro Clinic established with the financial support from Kasaragod District Panchayath. The Agro Clinic is an air-conditioned hall for exhibitions, trainings and also serves as a bio-control multiplication unit. It provides consultancy to farmers on plant protection aspects and supply biological control agents free of cost. A video conferencing unit is set up in the hall to facilitate classes taken by experts from other stations of the University. Since inception, 74 agro-clinics have been conducted. Detailed lists of all the agro-clinics that have been conducted are provided in the file attached herewith.
